LA 84 Foundation and Digitization Projects

<http://www.la84foundation.org/>

In NASLINE no.29, February 2007, there appeared a short description of two sessions that were held at the 2006 ISHA/NASLIN conference. The topic of the session focused on the work undertaken to digitize The Sporting Life, a weekly periodical published from 1883-1917, 1922-1924.

It was also indicated that very few copies exist of this fragile, newsprint periodical. The National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum has arranged that their copy should be used for the LA84 Foundation project. Bindings of the bound backruns were cut so that each page can be gently slid onto a flatbed scanner for processing. The goal of the project is to produce the best-enhanced copy possible that has good optical character recognition. The major challenges included the fact that newsprint discoloration affects legibility and the small font size meant a high-resolution capture must be used, thus creating a large file size. The outcome was to have each page no bigger than one MB. Michael Kennedy, Imaging Technology Consultant, and Michael Holobek, President, of Annapolis Technologies, LLC, Baltimore, Maryland (<http://www.annapolistech.com/>) have undertaken the research necessary to achieve the high quality image definition goals.

Dr. Wayne Wilson of the LA84 Foundation announced that a number of digitized volumes of The Sporting Life will be available on the Foundation's website in March. This periodical will add greatly to the sport history research materials already on the LA84 Foundation website.

13th IASI World Congress, Canberra, Australia, March 11-13, 2009

Congress Website: <https://secure.ausport.gov.au/conferences/iasi>

Plans are well underway for the 13th IASI World Congress. The website has been updated with the accommodation and registration fee information. Along with this is a page describing sponsorship opportunities for associations, institutions and companies.

Under the main theme, Building and Sustaining Sport Information Communities – Through Connectivity, Collaboration, and Sharing, are the session themes,

- Online Collaboration Solutions for Sport Information Communities
- Electronic Sport Information Resource Sharing
- Digital Asset Management Repositories
- Sport Performance Analysis Applications and Technology Solutions
- Knowledge Delivery, Online Libraries and Archives

Important deadlines to note are:

September 1, 2008 for the submission of papers and poster abstracts.

December 8, 2008 Fulltext of papers are due

As mentioned previously we hope that there is a strong representation of research papers/posters from North American librarians and researchers at this key sport information event.

2.0 Technology Update - Surfing the Web

2.1 Notable Websites and Collections

CBC Video Archives: Sports Archives

http://archives.cbc.ca/info/281g\_en214.shtml

This website describes the large collection of video tapes held by CBC Archives. Five vaults contain 69,000 tapes with two vaults devoted to hockey games and interviews. All of the tapes are shot-listed, the information catalogued in the department's computer database for quick and easy access. The Sports archives add about 1,000 hours of new tape. In Winter Olympic years that number jumps to 2,000 hours while the Summer Olympic years, increases are closer to 3,000 hours.
