AAFLA Becomes the LA84 Foundation

www.LA84Foundation.org

In a recent email from Wayne Wilson, VP Education Services, the following announcement was made:

In 1984, the Games of the XXIII Olympiad brought the best of sport to Southern California. The city and people of Los Angeles demonstrated what can be accomplished when we work together toward a common goal.

Today, the spirit of the 1984 Olympic Games lives on. Through direct grants, sponsored programs and refurbishment of facilities, our Foundation has enabled millions of youth to discover and develop their potential by participating in sports. For over 20 years we have provided fresh insight into the most pressing issues in youth sports, guided coaches to cultivate the best in their athletes and strengthened the ties between generations and communities. And while we're proud of what we've accomplished, we're even more excited about our future impact.

To clarify public understanding, signal our renewed energy, urgency and commitment, and to perpetually honor the spirit of the Games that led to our existence, we are proud to announce that we have changed our name from the Amateur Athletic Foundation of Los Angeles to the LA84 Foundation.

Although our name, logo and colors have changed, our commitment to advancing youth sport in Southern California has not. In the years to come, we will continue to champion the foundational role sport plays in providing today's youth with the skills they need to take on the challenges of life.

13th IASI World Congress, Canberra, Australia, March 11-13, 2009

Congress Website: <https://secure.ausport.gov.au/conferences/iasi>

The host, location and time of the 2009 IASI World Congress has changed. The Australian Sports Commission, National Sport Information Centre is now the host of the IASI World Congress. At the IASI annual meeting held in Tokyo, May 2007, the Program Committee and IASI Executive Committee agreed on the following main theme and session themes:

Building and Sustaining Sport Information Communities – Through Connectivity, Collaboration, and Sharing with five session themes:

- Online Collaboration Solutions for Sport Information Communities
- Electronic Sport Information Resource Sharing
- Digital Asset Management Repositories

- Sport Performance Analysis Applications and Technology Solutions
- Knowledge Delivery, Online Libraries and Archives

The first announcement was made on September 6, 2007. The Congress website has details of how to present a paper/poster, accommodation information, registration fees and other key subjects. An important deadline to note is September 1, 2008 for the submission of papers and poster abstracts. Consult the congress website frequently for updates will be added at any time.

The Program Committee Chair is Cindy Slater, Library Manager, USOC, email: cindy.slater@usoc.org. Do make a note of the IASI World Congress date on your calendar. We hope that there is a strong representation of research papers/posters from North American librarians and researchers at this key sport information event.

NASSH Book Award 2007

At the annual meeting of the North American Society for Sports History held in Lubbock, TX last May, the following book: (listed in a previous NASLINE) won the 2007 Book Award:

2.0 Technology Update - Surfing the Web

2.1 Notable Websites and Collections

Olympic Games, London, 2012

A WorldCat search recently found many planning and policy documents on the London Olympic Games. Most are available gratis from various government departments in the UK. For libraries that do not have access to WorldCat, a fairly comprehensive listing can be found on the UK academic website called Intute. This website with partners from universities and institutes has subject specialists select links to some of the best websites and online publications available. See the Social Sciences section at:

<http://www.intute.ac.uk/socialsciences/sport/> and, in the search box, type in Olympic games London to see the 24 records added so far. A search of Google will find even more resources.

Harvard University Base Ball Club. Records of Organized Baseball at Harvard: an inventory, Abstract: "These records result from the organization, administration, and coaching of organized baseball played by the Harvard community. They date chiefly from 1870-1910."

<http://oasis.lib.harvard.edu/oasis/deliver/~hua02006>

The Harvard University Archives also holds:

- The Harvard University Baseball Collection (HUD 9000) which chiefly contains baseball ephemera and writings about baseball at Harvard

- Records of the Lawrence Base Ball Club (HUD 9600)
- The Harvard University Photograph Subject Files : Baseball (HUPSF-Baseball)
- The Papers of Coach Bill Reid, Jr. (HUG 4736.xx)
- Records of the Harvard Athletic Association
- Records of the Harvard University Dept. of Athletics
