News from Sports Organizations

1.1 NASLIN

10th Conference of North American Sport Library Network

Plans for the 10th Conference have recently suffered a blow in that our sponsoring local host has withdrawn support of our 10th Conference slated for fall 2005. The NASLIN Steering Committee will regroup and consider other options. We will announce the new plan and dates as soon as possible.

Other NASLIN News

- Cindy Romaine, a NASLIN Steering Committee member has accepted a new position at Nike, Inc. She is now the Nike Corporate Archivist
- NASLIN has its own domain name now, <http://www.naslin.org/> and hopefully by the end of October – early November the site will come “live”. SIRC who hosts the present NASLIN website will graciously continue in this role.

1.2 Amateur Athletic Foundation of Los Angeles

<http://www.aafla.org/>

The digitizing work at AAFLA continues a pace. Since our last report in February, the Official Reports from London 1908, Helsinki 1952, Melbourne 1956, Rome 1960, Seoul 1988, and Salt Lake City 2002 have been digitized and added to AAFLA's Virtual Library.

In addition, Stephan Wassong's PhD thesis, Pierre de Coubertins US-amerikanische Studien und ihre Bedeutung für die Analyse seiner frühen Erziehungskampagne (2000) has been translated by Neil King and is available fulltext on the AAFLA website (English title: Pierre de Coubertin's American Studies and Their Importance for the Analysis of His Early Educational Campaign).

Two other publications are also available fulltext. They are:

- da Costa, Lamartine Pereira Olympic studies : current intellectual crossroads Rio de Janeiro: University Gama Gilho, Group for Research on Olympic Studies, 2002, 378p.
- Edelman, Robert., Serious Fun: a history of spectator sports in the USSR. NY: Oxford University Press, 1993, 286p.

The periodical American Golfer is also available from 1908-1920 backrun (pub. from 1908-1936).

1.3 SIRC (Sport Information Resource Centre)

<http://www.sirc.ca/>

SIRC is publishing a newsletter called SIRCNews. In the September issue SIRC has announced the 2004 Research Awards. The September issue is available at:

<http://www.sirc.ca/newsletters/email/september/subscribers.html>

Since our last NASLINE news in February addition new Thesaurus Terms have been added. The major new terms are:

The International Council for Sport Science and Physical Education

<http://www.icsspe.org/>

The International Council of Sport Science and Physical Education (ICSSPE) is a network of over 250 organizations around the world that support the scientific understanding of movement and sport, education for improved quality of life, health for all, physical activity and the positive values of sport.

To support this work, ICSSPE has a publications program that produces resources in a variety of topics and formats. Selected publications include a triennial online Bulletin, (ISSN 1563-3632, online from issue no. 37, Feb. 2003)) which is available to all ICSSPE members and subscribers. CDRoms of each issue are available for purchase, along with back issues in print form (pre-2003). The Feature section of each issue contains articles on topics such as Sport as a Tool for Social Development, Sport and Environment, Globalisation and Ethics.

The Perspectives Series, a monograph series, aims to disseminate sport science information, integrate various sport science disciplines and facilitate application of research results to practical areas of sport. Each volume contains expert contributions from several fields of sport science, along with references and information for further study.

This series is published by Meyer & Meyer Sports (<http://www.meyer-meyer-sports.com/>) with the following titles available to date:

- v.1, 1999 School sport and competition, ed by Steve Bailey, 142p. ISBN 1841260193
- v.2, 2001 Physical activity and ageing, ed by Steve Bailey, 156p. ISBN 1841260533
- v.3, 2001 The Business of sport, ed by Darlene Kluka and Guido Schilling, 192p. ISBN 1841260568
- v.4, 2002 Sport and information technology, ed by Gretchen Ghent, Darlene Kluka and Denise Jones, 186p. ISBN 184126086X

- v.5, 2004, *Aspects of Sport Governance, ed. by Kluka, Darlene; Schilling, Guido, & Stier, William F and will be published in October. See New Publications list below for details.

In preparation are another volumes in the series entitled: Health Enhancing Physical Activity and Children and Obesity. Publications may be purchased online at the ICSSPE website: <http://www.icsspe.org/>. Orders can be placed online using a credit card. This is in a secure area on the website.

To subscribe to the Bulletin and have access to the Directory of Sport Science, an ICSSPE membership for institutions of higher learning (Category D membership) is $90 per year. Membership runs on the calendar year. Subscribers are given the password to access the online Bulletin and Directory.

Resources for College Libraries: A New Edition is Planned

A Subject Editor for sport and physical education is being sought by the publishers of the Resources for College Libraries.

Resources for College Libraries (RCL) is the long-awaited successor to Books for College Libraries, 3rd Edition (BCL3), a core list of 50,000 recommended book titles for academic libraries published by the American Library Association (ALA) in 1988. RCL will be co-published by CHOICE, the publishing unit of the Association of College and Research Libraries (ACRL), and ALA Editions, the book publishing arm of the ALA. CHOICE will be responsible for content and editorial development, while ALA Editions will produce, market, and distribute the finished product. RCL will provide a basic, retrospective list of books and electronic resources to complement the current reviews offered by CHOICE.

Like BCL3 (and its predecessors), RCL will have a variety of uses for collection assessment: it will be consulted by accrediting agencies, by colleges adapting to new curricula, and by librarians weeding collections but wanting to insure retention of essential works.

RCL will improve on BCL3 in a number of significant ways. Unlike BCL3, RCL will cover electronic resources as well as books. While BCL3 was published in six volumes, RCL will exist primarily as a Web-based product (although provisions will be made for print-on-demand paper editions). In order to avoid the problems of obsolescence inherent in a print reference source, RCL will be continuously revised and updated after its first appearance. Finally, the RCL subject taxonomy will include appropriate interdisciplinary subject headings to reflect changes in higher education curricula since 1988.

RCL will be the product of the collaborative efforts of members of the CHOICE editorial staff and subject/disciplinary editors and contributors recruited from the teaching faculty and libraries of colleges and universities. The target date for publication of RCL is currently 2006. We are seeking a large number of volunteer contributors in a broad range of subject areas. We are particularly interested in hearing from individuals and groups who are currently compiling or interested in assisting with the compilation of a core list in a specific subject area. If you are interested, or know of a qualified individual or group, please contact:

Description of subject editor responsibilities:

Each subject/disciplinary editor will assist the project editor in identifying areas where the subject taxonomy of BCL3 (which was based on the Library of Congress Subject Headings) needs to be expanded, or have terms added, to adequately reflect the rise of new areas of scholarship and teaching. In addition, the subject editor will recruit and oversee the work of a number of contributors, both librarians and scholars, who will contribute suggestions to a unified core list of essential titles (print and electronic) for a college library. The subject editor will review these contributions and make suggestions as to additions or deletions to achieve adequate coverage of the subject area. Subject editors will each receive a honorarium and be prominently acknowledged in RCL for their contributions.

Additional information about RCL can be found on the Web at

2.0 Technology Update - Surfing the Web

2.1 Notable Websites

The Australian National Sport Information Centre's Fulltext Archive

<http://www.ausport.gov.au/fulltext>

Web users will note that the Australian Sports Commission's website has been revamped and will see that many important sections have new url locations. The Fulltext Archive section is as active as ever and has many studies and reports on physical fitness, health, sporting needs assessments, injuries, training manuals, liability reports, and other topics that will be of interest to the sport communities in North America.

College Coaches Online

<http://www.collegecoachesonline.com/>

This database, intended to assist high school athletes and others, is a directory of over 15,000 college and university coaches in the NCAA and the NAIA. An onsite search engine assists in locating coaches by name, but also by location, size of institution, tuition costs sport, NCAA division and academic qualifications.

Spalding Base Ball Guides, 1889-1939

<http://www.memory.loc.gov/ammem/spaldinghtml/spaldinghome.html>

The long awaited digitization of the Spalding guides has begun with the availability of 35 of the Spalding's Official Base Ball Guide and the Official Indoor Base Ball Guide published between 1889-1939. Each guide included "editorials from baseball writers on the state of the game, statistics, photographs, rules, and analysis of the previous season for all the Major League teams and for many of the so-called minor leagues across the nation." These guides were the creation of A.G (Albert Goodwill) Spalding (1850-1915) and his publishing house, the American Sports Publishing Company.

These guides are part of the Library of Congress' (LC) American Memory digitization project that will make its historical and cultural resources available and to preserve a universal collection. LC has a very comprehensive collection of the Spalding guides which number over 1000 publications.

World Federation of Athletic Training & Therapy Website

<http://www.wfatt.org/>

This international organization is a "coalition of health care professionals in the fields of sport, exercise, injury/illness prevent and treatment" that was established fairly recently. It is an umbrella organization for its seven charter associations, the National Athletic Trainers' Association (USA), The Association of Chartered Physiotherapists in Sports (UK), the Biokinetics Association of South Africa, The Canadian Athletic Therapists Association, the Japan Athletic Trainers' Organization and the Taiwan Athletic Trainers' Society. See the website for information on its biennial scientific meeting and other member benefits.

Canadian Institute for Health Information

http://secure.cihi.ca/cihiweb/dispPage.jsp?cw_page=cphi_e

The various publications emanating from the Canadian Population Health Initiative are listed on this website. Titles include: Overweight and Obesity in Canada: a Population Health Perspective and Improving the Health of Canadians

Fitness Information Technology (Online) Test Center, Flow Scales (FSS-2 and DFS-2)

<http://www.fitinfotech.com/>

A new test has been added to the online Test Center established on the Fitness Information Technology website. This test, Flow Scales, is authored by Susan Jackson and Robert C. Eklund. Flow scales "are self report instruments designed to assess the construct of flow or optimal experience." As with the other test available online, Group Environment Questionnaire, there is a subscription charged for 6 months or a year to an individual or institution that would like to administer the test. The Flow Scales Manual (2004, 88p. ISBN 1885693516) is included in the subscription. The authors request that anyone administering the test report their results to the test creators, thus contributing to the reliability and validity studies that are ongoing.

The Sporting News, 1886-2002

<http://www.paperofrecord.com/>

The complete backset of the Sporting News is now available on the Paper of Record website. The digitizing company, Cold North Wind (CNW) (<http://www.coldnorthwind.com/>) used the microfilm backset to digitize this sports serial. They enhanced or "cleaned up" some of the digital images. There are 184,953 fulltext pages from the Sporting News that are searchable in 5 year chunks through the website's search engine. This is a subscription based service cost approximately $100 for a year's access or $17 for 31 days. The Paper of Record offers access to some large circulation newspapers, e.g. the Washington Post, but there are many smaller newspapers from the US, Canada, the UK, Australia, and Latin America.
